

REVISION SUBMISSION CHECKLIST

- Cover letter is a separate file and addresses any potential overlap with existing publications, relevant disclosures from the authors, and any other special circumstances that may apply.
- Response letter is a separate file, does not identify the authors (blinded), and addresses all comment in a point-by-point format, including editor and reviewer comments. *Your manuscript will be returned if the response letter is missing or incomplete.
- Title page is a separate file and includes all authors and their affiliations and disclosures including all sources of support and potential conflicts of interest. Prior presentations mentioned.
- If there are any changes to the author list (added or removed authors, revised author order), the authors must provide an explanation and submit written approval from all authors.
- Main document includes tracking, colored text, or highlighting to show all changes made and does not identify the authors in any way (blinded file). *Your manuscript will be returned if the changes are not marked.
- Entire manuscript has been proofread for typographical errors and correct grammar, punctuation, and spelling (follow American English language rules).
- Abstract format is correct per journal instructions and includes all key points and registry number (if applicable)
- Ethical statements regarding IRB review, consent, approval are mentioned in methods.
- Data in the text, tables, figures, and abstract agree.
- References are numbered, cited in numerical order, and written in English.
- Tables include a short title and footnotes to define all symbols and abbreviations.
- Figure legends are listed at the end of the manuscript; all abbreviations and symbols are defined
- Figures are separate files and are optimized for print quality: at least 5 inches wide, 14-point font size, and 300+ dpi.
- Permission has been obtained for anyone who is mentioned in the acknowledgment section.
- Permission has been obtained to reprint and/or modify all tables / figures that have been published previously, and the appropriate credit line is included with the material.