

Competing Financial Interests Form

JH&P has a policy of full disclosure. All authors must declare all actual or potential competing financial interests involving people or organizations that might reasonably be perceived as relevant. Disclosure of competing interests does not imply the information in the article is questionable. Decisions to publish or reject an article will not be based solely on a declaration of a competing interest. For each manuscript, ALL authors must complete a Competing Financial Interests Declaration form. Disclosures will be published if the paper is accepted. If there are no actual or potential competing financial interests, a declaration of “No competing financial interests” will be published.

Actual or potential competing financial interests occurring within the last three years, include but are not limited to: grant support; employment (past, present, or offer); patents (pending or applied); payment for expert witness or testimony; personal financial interests and compensation by the authors, immediate family members, or institutional affiliations. Investments do not constitute a competing financial interest.

Please contact JH&P editorial staff if you have any questions or technical difficulties with this form.

Manuscript Title: _____

Author Name: _____

Please indicate one of the following:

I have an actual or potential competing financial interest (see above statement for examples), or

I have no actual or potential competing financial interest

Specify the actual or potential competing interests, including the name of entity, who is involved, and current interest.

Is there anything else that should be brought to the editors' attention?

I hereby certify that all actual or potential competing financial interests have been declared

Signature: _____ Date: _____

Affiliation: _____